FRÎDAY MAY 1, 1891.

The Confederacy and Slavery. The Century magazine for May contains an article from the pen of Mr. John Broz-Low entitled "The Confederate Diplomatists and their Shirt of Nessus. A chapter of Secret History."

The author having obtained from the Confederate archives at Washington, or from some other source, copies of letters from Benjamin, Slidell, Mason, Dr. Leon, Mann, and others proceeds to cast them into a story to show that the fact that the southern people were slave-holders pre-vented England and France from giving recognition to our Government.

Most of the letters quoted afford some ground for this view, but Mr. BIGELOW takes a viciously partisan use of his material and of the Century's pages.

He reports Mr. Yancey as saying upon the latter's return to this country from Europe that "Prince Albert and Queen Vicronia were against us" on account of slavery, and his "information, which deserved to be heeded, and if heeded would have promptly led to a termination of the war, had about as much effect upon the lunatics at Richmond as reading the riot act or the Ten Commandments would have upon a pack of wolves."

This is the tone of Mr. Biogrow's article throughout. We commend it to the attention of gentlemen who see no necessity for the establishment of a southern magazine and who are under the impression that the great northern magazines are ever ready to do us justice.

Mr. Biogrow had most valuable material in his hands, and it is a pity that the Century did not persuade him to use it in a calm and philosophical manner rather than in the rabid rant of a radical stump-speaker.

Mr. Bigelow avers that President Davis sent Mr. Kenner to London and Paris to negotiate for the Confederacy's recognition upon the basis of the abolition of clavery. It would be nearer the truth to say that Mr. Davis was informed that if the States of the Confederacy would abandon slavery the chief European powers would recognize it. Mr. KENNER was a member of the Confederate Congress from Louisiana, and be-longed to a family that owned an immense number of slaves. His mission abroad, if he really had our Government's credentials, was to ascertain how far the aforesaid information could be relied upon. Mr. Davis knew that the abolition of slavery could only be accomplished by amend-ments to the Constitution of each of the States of the Confederacy. According to Mr. Bigklow the Emperor Napoleon said to Mr. KENNER that he would do whatever England would do, and Mr. KENNER then went to London, where the news of SHEE-MAN's march through Georgia had pre ceded him, and caused Palmenston to answer him: "It is too late."

Free Letter-Delivery in Towns. Weldon, N. C., is to have a letter-carrier-only one—so the telegraph told us yester-day. Is not the DISPATCH entitled to the credit of being the first paper in the United States to advocate the free delivery of letters in all towns receiving daily mailmatter enough to require for its delivery the services of even one man? The Post-master-General has decided to make an experiment to test the policy of so de-livering mail matter. We confidently expect the experiment to be successful. We expect the mail-matter sent to and from Weldon to begin to increase in volume in a short time. So as to all the other small towns in which the same experiment is to be made. We shall be disappointed if the free delivery of mail-matter shall not he found to be educating in its effects. We regret that so few towns are to have the benefits of the experiment. Postal reform is always in order. There should be no wholesale and retail rates in the Post-Office Department. All persons should have the right to send papers through the mails at one price. Let the unit of weight be a pound and the rate two cents. It is excessively annoying—nay, uselessly and foolishly annoying—to be required to pay for papers by the ounce Nobody would have to weigh packages to ascertain if they weighed a pound. The unit of weight for letters is now an ounce instead of as formerly a balf ounce. No-body need weigh a letter now. The Post-Office Department has lost nothing by the change, but the public has largely gained, There are other reforms needed in the Blame and Harrison. Republican politicians up North are beginning to say that Mr. HARRISON " will be renominated for President by acclamation" and Mr. Blaine is quoted as de-claring that Harrison is the "best Presi-dent the country has had since Lincoln."

Thus we see some of the expected effects the President's palace-car excursion, He is having a "boom" just now, and the other aspirants are much discouraged; but it may not always be thus. There may be a sudden lurch of the old ship of state before the nomination, and it may send Harrison to the hold and bring upon deck an abler seaman.

However, it really seems that Mr. BLAINS does not propose to contest the nominanation. So say Mr. PARSONS, Mr. BLAINE, nearly all the Washington correspondents. and last, but most important of all, Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, of which Russen B. Harrison, a son of the President, is one of the owners and editors. Young HARRISON, possibly, speaks from official BLAINE out of the way, possibly Alora would like to have a tilt in the convention with HARRISON.

Richmond's Street-Cars. The street-car lines have been much improved here this year. A great deal of money has been spent in relaying tracks and in buying new motors, and we know of no community of our population that is better served.

better served.

The next improvement which we hope to be able to record is that the City Council has granted the company the privilege to run some of its Church-Hill cars on Main street from Seventh to Twenty-first.

This must come at last. Why not now? Possibly because the residents of Church Hill are so inactive about the matter.

The fact that President J. T. Hills of the Ninth National Bank of New York was able to rob it of $400,000 without breaking it shows that it is or was a pretty strong sautitution. It also shows that the bank crassiners didn't examine and the direction?

tors didn't direct. Hill did it all. He is dead now—was dead before the discovery was made—and so far as earthly responsi-

The Norfolk Landmark thinks that the public might as well accept "Newport News," now that it has been fixed that way. We hold differently. When the Legislature comes to charter the city it should adopt the old name, "Newport's News," if for no other reason than to remind the Post-Office Department that it is its duty to be particular in these matters and to respect local opinions and traditions.

On Sunday, May 10th, the Ladies' Memo rial Association of Phillips county, Ark. in addition to their annual decoration of Confederate soldiers' graves, will unveil a monument to the memory of the gal-lant General Par. Dr. Lafferst is a venturesome man. In this week's Advocate he speaks ill of the Pullman cars he has seen on some southern roads. The next time he gets on one the porter will try to smother him to death under balf a dozen plank-blankets, and if he chances to survive it will be only to have his life dusted out. Alas, poor LAFFERTY!

The base-ball season has opened and school- and college-commencements will soon tollow. There is, however, but hitle community of thought and feeling betwixt the short-stop and the orator.

As to-day is the 1st of May we may expect to hear of strikes in all parts of the country where the demand for eight hours as a day's labor has been made and re-

The Sunday edition of THE RICHMONI DISPATOR is a ten-page paper now and is a credit to the city. The DISPATOR has taken big strides in journalism in the past few years, and is constantly adding something new to make it still more attractive, It contained last Sunday a most interesting sketch of the life of General Joseph E. Johnston by General Maury, an intimate friend of Johnston. In this sketch some phases of the life of Johnston were brought out which have never been in print before, and were of unusual interest.-Greensbo (N. C.) Patriot.

A PHOTOGRAPH IMPOSTOR. He Victimizes People in Petersburg—Rev.

Mr. Barker's Reception. Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.)

PETERBEURG, VA., April 30.— Several weeks ago a stranger came to this city representing himself as the agent of a Baltimore studio and solicited orders for enlarged photographs. He received a number of orders and with each collected one dollar in advance. Since his visit no intelligence has been received about him or the photographs, and some of our citizens are beginning to think themselves victimized.

AN ENLABREMENT REQUIRED.

The committee appointed by Judge Bernard, of the Hustines Court, to examine and report as to the condition of the city Jall, highly commend the excellent condition and management of that institution, but recommend an enlargement of the jall for the accommodation of prisoners and cortain improvements which will enhance its security. There are only twelve cells in the jail, and it frequently happens that too many prisoners have to be crowded together.

Rev. John N. Barker, the new paster of the West-End Reptist church, had a most cordial and gratifying reception at the hands of his congregation last night, and the occasion was such as at once to make the paster and people feel like old friends.

THE VIRGINIA AND CAROLINA ROAD. A Committee of Conference Appointed-Richmond's Action Appreciated.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] of the Chamber of Commerce a committee was appointed to confer with the Committee on Inland Trade of the Richmond Chamber, with a view to furthering the construction of the Virginia and Carolina railroad. This action was taken in response to a letter from the chairman of the Richmond committee. The committee appointed this evening consists of Hon. E. C. Venable, Robert Gilliam, L. L. Marks, R. C. Scott, Simon Seward, and J. T. Daiton.

ANOTHER COMMITTEE.

Simon Seward, and J. T. Dalton.

The Common Council will to-morrow appoint a committee of that body to co-operate with the above, and to take such action as may be deemed necessary in view of the early surrender of the charter by the railroad company.

The discussion of the railroad occupied the whole of the Chamber's session, and much satisfaction is expressed that the people of Richmond are showing interest in the road.
